Health Care Vote Set for Sunday in House; Labor Calls to Lipinski and Costello Needed

Rep. Lipinski

Rep. Costello

The U.S. House is working toward a Sunday vote on long-sought health care reform legislation that Labor has been lobbying for months.

In order to put the legislation on the desk of President Barack Obama, the legislation will wind its way through a process called reconciliation in order to achieve majority support instead of a much-larger hurdle to break a Republican-led filibuster.

The House will vote on the bill that passed the Senate earlier this year and then both chambers will ultimately vote on a bill – agreed to by both the House and Senate – that includes many pro-consumer changes to the health care and insurance industries.

Over-arching health care reform passed the House by a razor-thin margin late last year with the support of the entire Democratic delegation in Illinois. It was opposed by each Republican in Illinois.

All Illinois Republicans continue to stand opposed. Additionally, two Democrats – Dan Lipinski and Jerry Costello – in particular need to hear from Labor to solidify support for the bill.

Illinois AFL-CIO President Michael T. Carrigan and other labor leaders in Illinois have been contacting the Democratic targets in order to convey Labor's support for the legislation (see contact numbers to the right). President Carrigan has been in constant contact with House Democrat Chief Deputy Whip Jan Schakowsky (D-9) in Labor's lobby effort.

"We are asking for anyone in the Labor community that is willing to call or e-mail these two Democrats and implore them to support the legislation," Carrigan said. "It's not a perfect bill but it gets to the heart of the problems we have been facing for decades by finally reigning in the insurance and health care industries by putting it back in the hands of the people."

If enacted the legislation will:

- Spend $794 billion on expanding insurance coverage
- Expand Medicaid coverage to 16 million additional people
- Provide coverage through an insurance exchange to 24 million people
- Reduce the number of uninsured by 32 million people
- Bar insurance companies from denying coverage due to pre-existing conditions
- Reduce the deficit by $138 billion over the next 10 years

The changes also guarantee that student loans would now be made only by the government, ending a role for banks and other for-profit lenders who charge fees. The savings, an estimated $60 billion over a decade, would increase Pell grants for needy college students.

President Obama Signs Job Bill

On Tuesday, the Senate passed the Hiring Incentives to Restore Employment (HIRE) Act - HR2847 by a vote of 68-29. The legislation is part of a series of Democratic jobs bills to address the nation's high unemployment which stood at 9.7 percent in February. The bill includes $18 billion dollars in tax breaks for companies that hire unemployed workers, a $20 billion infusion into the federal Highway Trust Fund and an additional $4.6 billion in federal subsidies to states for infrastructure projects.

This Week the Senate was in session for five days, while the House was in four days. This was a deadline week to pass substantive Senate Bills out of the Senate. The House deadline to pass House Bills out of the House is Friday, March 26th. Most of the action was on the House and Senate floors this week. However, hearings for agency budget requests have begun this week, with more to follow next week. The Illinois AFL-CIO fully supports additional staffing and appropriations for those agencies that are responsible for enforcing our laws protecting working families in Illinois.

Next Week the House is scheduled to return on Monday, March 22nd at 3pm and work through Friday. The Senate will return on Tuesday, March 23rd at noon, and work through Thursday. The House will continue to pass substantive legislation out of their chamber, while the Senate will begin considering House Bills.

The following is a synopsis of action taken on bills this week that are important to working families, for a full view of legislation we continue to monitor, please visit: www.ilaf-cio.org/laborbills.htm .

Michael Carberry State Representative- 36th District

State Representative Michael Carberry was sworn into office in March 2010, replacing retiring state Representative Jim Brosnahan to represent the people of the 36th Representative District.

Prior to his appointment, Carberry help found CECO Inc., a signature contractor for the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers Local 134.

Carberry made it his priority to provide union jobs, working both with IBEW 134 and the International Union of Operating Engineers Local 399. One of his top priorities as a lawmaker will be to promote economic development that will create good paying jobs for the 36th District residents.

Carberry and his wife, Michelle, have active roles in the education system. Carberry has coached 7th and 8th grade football at St. Catherine's grammar school for 13 years and Michele is a Chicago public school teacher. They are the proud parents of Mary Kate, Claire and Sean.
